

GOODNIGHT FAVORS UNION MEMORIAL BUILDING AT U. W.

Dr. S. H. Goodnight, dean of men at the University of Wisconsin, is an enthusiastic supporter of the plan to erect a memorial union building at the university as a permanent tribute to the men and women of the college who served in the world war. Dr. Goodnight is a member of the memorial committee.

The plan of a great student union building at Wisconsin as an memorial to the service men is gaining great popularity and is rapidly in popularity. "If we examine the many municipal and county projects which are in contemplation or in the course of erection in the country today, we find that in the majority of cases the memorial is to take the form of a building which shall serve the community in a practical way, as well as being a constant reminder of those whose deeds it commemorates."

A building for all the men at the university, from which none may be barred, which shall be the center of their college life outside of classrooms; which shall contain a dignified memorial lobby for the commemorative tablets, flags and emblems; commons where 2000 students may take their meals; a theater; a similar capacity for their plays, their men's meetings, their celebrations; which shall have editorial and publicity rooms; a reading room; a library; a gymnasium; a swimming pool; a bowling alley; which shall contain commodious alumni offices and be the general headquarters for visiting alumni at all times; could any memorial be more fitting, more universally symbolic of the services which is Wisconsin's spirit?

The executive committee in charge of the campaign to raise a fund of $750,000 to finance the memorial project, is now engaged in the work of organizing committees in the various counties of the state. It will also reach University of Wisconsin graduates who are scattered throughout the various countries of the world. The executive committee has its headquarters at room 600 University building, Milwaukee.

TRAVELETTE

By NIKSAM.

A SUBWAY STATION. Probably there are many now who have learned their way around in the subway station at Times Square, but there are many who have not. This cavernous place will ever remain a nightmare. It is to be supposed of course that the guards and ticket choppers there occasionally emerge and breathe in the light of day, and even go home to their families; but down beneath the earth they cast their human likeness from them and become as a race apart. They are the only ones who truly know the whole system of this maze of underground passages, the roar of the trains, and the strange tongue that they speak make it impossible for them to transmit this knowledge. So they merely loiter around in uniforms, ransacking, maybe, but hardly helpful.

When one gets resigned, though, a few hours are not unprofitably spent in a subway station. One would have loved it down there. His ghost may be walking there now. All the people look more or less like driven shades; their faces hurried and ghastly in the unearthly light. They become suddenly pathetic—little soft animals devoured by their own machinery. The routine soul might find much food for thought in the subway.

It is said that one woman mastered the system while the station was quite new. She knew when to follow the green line and where it would take her, she knew when to change to the red line and where it would take her. But one day she stopped suddenly on her jaunty way. Her eyes became fixed and her face pale. Before her were two men with a bucket of paint and brushes. It was then that she was carried shrieking to the open air, never to enter the subway again.

She claims that the two men were engaged in painting a red line.

Arrest Bill Breaker.

Milwaukee—James Cushey, who saved his way out of the county jail here Aug. 23, was arrested in Buffalo, Sunday, while robbing a home with August E. Loosener. Information of Cushey's arrest was contained in a letter received by the Milwaukee police Monday from Chief James Higgins, Buffalo. Cushey will not be brought back to Milwaukee until after his trial in Buffalo on the burglary charge. If convicted and sentenced there, he will be brought back to face the Milwaukee charges after his release from prison.

Common-Sense for Corns, "Gets-It"

The Great Painless Corn Loosener. Simple as A, B, C—Never Fails.

If you have ever tried to get rid of a corn by pulling up your toe with bandages, or by using salve that made your toe red and almost raw, or tried to draw your corn out with a knife, there will be a surprise waiting for you when you use "Gets-It." Imagine peeling your corn off gloriously, easily and painlessly. Just like peeling off a banana skin. Well, that is what happens when you use "Gets-It." There is nothing else that will give you this same result. Millions of people have had the same blessed experience. Why putter and suffer, limp, and spoil a good time for yourself and your friends or your peace of mind while trying to attend to "business." Use "Gets-It," the simple common sense way.

"Gets-It," the only sure, guaranteed, money-back corn remover, but available at any drug store. Mfg'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Jamesville at the following places: The Best Corn Remedy by Smith Drug Co., Badger Drug Co., McQuay's Drug Co., Reliable Drug Co., W. T. Shorer.

Flying Airplane on Track

By Grant M. Hyde.

There are many ways of building toy model airplanes that will fly, but the trouble is that they are often broken when they fall in the first tests. Here is the way of flying them without mishaps.

Spread the landing gear wide apart and place rings in the end. Then run two cords, for a flying track, from the ground on a gentle slant to a tree or high in the air. Lay the airplane to rest on the cord track, with the cords through the rings of the landing gear. Start the plane at the lower end and let it fly up the track while testing it. The track will give freedom enough to show what readjustments are necessary for proper balance.

Of all the designs for model planes, this monoplane is as good as any that are easy to build. The main body is a square, 10 inches long, and 4 inches wide. The wings are 10 inches long and 4 inches wide. The tail is 4 inches long and 4 inches wide. The landing gear is 4 inches long and 4 inches wide. The main body is made of wood, and the wings and tail are made of paper. The landing gear is made of wire. The main body is 10 inches long and 4 inches wide. The wings are 10 inches long and 4 inches wide. The tail is 4 inches long and 4 inches wide. The landing gear is 4 inches long and 4 inches wide.

IT'S ABOUT TIME.

Many complaints have appeared in public print concerning the methods used by the vocational training board in handling cases of disabled soldiers. Charges have been made that very few men have received much benefit from the training and that the board was not functioning properly. It is evident that pressure has been brought to bear in the right quarters for a bulletin has been issued and authorized by the assistant secretary of war's office in which attention is called to the fact that former soldiers, sailors and marines who have incurred disabilities which have necessitated major amputations, such as the loss of a hand or foot, or the loss of both hands or feet, or the loss of sight of one or both eyes, and who are desirous of taking vocational training, can now have their applications acted on within 24 hours.

The bulletin reads:
"Under a new policy just put in effect by the federal board for vocational education, men who have become disabled in the service of the army or navy, no matter what the extent or nature of such disability, are enabled to have their applications for training acted on much more quickly than formerly. Heretofore all applications for training were referred from the district vocational office to the federal board at Washington for action, thereby entailing much delay and working needless hardships on the men making the applications. Under the new system all of these applications are acted on by traveling field representatives who have been sent out from Washington. These representatives cover the entire country and visit each vocational board at least once every two weeks, at which time all cases ready in the district office are cleared up. The only cases which such traveling representatives must refer to Washington are those involving courses for a period longer than two years. On these the Washington office will give a decision within ten days.

"Men who have had major amputations, such as the loss of a hand or foot or both hands or both feet, or loss of sight of one eye or both eyes, come under a special class. Their applications will be acted on by the district vocational officer, who has authority to approve courses up to and including four years in length without referring them to Washington. Cases of this character should be cleared up within 24 hours.

"The federal board for vocational education has also adopted a definite policy regarding tuberculosis cases. Any arrested case of tuberculosis will be considered as 25 per cent disabled for a period of two years from date of arrest, and the bureau of war risk insurance has agreed that they will consider arrested cases as 25 per cent disabled for the first six months and 10 percent for the following eighteen. This decision enables the giving of the necessary hospital and medical treatment to men in this class."

JOIN THE GLEE CLUB.

In these times of high tension nerves it is advantageous for us to play and sing, and forget high costs of living, profiteering, strikes, and other disturbing factors in our everyday life.

Every community should take immediate steps to provide amusement for its citizens because the investment of time and money in such enterprises will bring immeasurable returns. That much good results from keeping folks happy has been shown by the community welfare work which was done during the war. The morale of our soldiers would never have withstood the onslaughts of dissatisfaction, homesickness and the other things that breed discontent. If an organized effort had not been successfully made to cheer with song, and music and play.

Efforts are going to be made tomorrow night to organize a men's glee club and every man who can sing and desires to join such an organization is requested to be present at the meeting. It is hoped by those interested in the move to get together 30 or more singers who will practice during the winter months with the idea of giving one or more concerts.

Janesville citizens will welcome such an organization and will no doubt support its efforts to give the community an institution which will add to the enjoyment of all.

It is requested that not only those men who sing attend the meeting but that others interested in the proposition be present.

NEWS WHEN IT IS NEWS

In every community are people who have the impression that the function of a newspaper is to cover up—to publish only that news which they desire published. Recently and frequently in Janesville news stories have "broken" which were of interest to the whole community. In some cases there have been common rumors about the streets for perhaps days. Many times these persons interested have resented this newspaper publishing the facts, even though the average man on the street had known them for days. Perhaps there was a time when a newspaper could satisfy its readers by giving them minimum service, but that is not the case today. People who buy newspapers are entitled to every bit of news that is authentic and worth publishing. This newspaper will continue its policy of publishing all news that is fit to print.

LEARNING HUMAN NATURE

Emma Goldman, who, for so many years, has been a leader of the radical element, has been learning "human nature," according to news dispatches. Emma has been in the Leavenworth prison making overalls. She was put there for obstructing the draft. Now she has served her term and likely will be deported as an undesirable.

But, while in prison, Emma is said to have learned a lot about human nature. And she is said to have liked the work of making overalls.

The country will watch her in the future to see if her study of human nature has changed her opinion as to how the country—and the world—should be run.

WATCH FOR HOG CHOLERA!

Warning that farmers must be alert to the menace of hog cholera will save thousands of dollars in Rock county if it is headed at this time. A survey by authorities shows that much has been done to check the threatened plague but a keen watch should be kept until all danger is removed. Symptoms, when detected, should be immediately reported. In Walworth county

SONG OF MANHOOD.

Oh, some there are that gold must cheer, some want to drink life's glory clear,
And some think happiness is told in wearing fancy dress;
And some would flit off of life its care and grief and pain of strife
To spend the fruitful years of time in dreamy idleness.
But grant to me the men who say: "We'll meet whatever comes our way,
We'll take life's pleasure and its pain, its bitter and its sweet;
We'll gladly work and gladly play and live our lives
as best we may.
The road that leads to victory leads also to defeat."

Oh, some there are that sigh for fame, and some the heights of skill would claim,
Some grieve and fret and frown because the sun has failed to shine;
Some would let themselves be glad until some far-off joy is had,
Till all the splendor of today their eyes see nothing fine.
But grant to me the men who say: "It is not yet our time to die!
The cup of life is at our lips and we may drink its brew;
We'll trudge the rain-splashed road today, tomorrow we may rest and play,
For who would ding with happiness must sup with sorrow, too."

Oh, some would live from year to year and never shed a single tear,
And some would dull their palates with the juices sickly sweet;
Some would not run the risk of pain one hour of added joy to gain,
Nor put their courage to the test by venturing with defeat.

But grant to me the men who shout, "No loss can put our faith to rout, We'll take what comes of good or ill as fate is pleased to give;
We'll gladly work and gladly play, for pleasure here with pain we'll pay,
And when at last it's ours to die, we'll say 'twas good to live."

It is rumored that an epidemic called "hog flu" has been discovered and that many animals have died. It perhaps would be well for Rock county farmers to look over their hogs now and see if any traces of such a disease are apparent.

We do not know how the horses at Longchamps race course finished but it is safe to predict that they hoofed it pretty fast after getting a glimpse of those Waikiki dancing girls' skirts and cannibal hats trimmed with monkey fur, worn by Parisian women in attendance.

While the labor conference is in session it might be well to call for a presentation of grievances by the hens' union with the idea of arranging to have them get back on the job before the price of eggs go so high that our morning omelet is out of the question.

Sketches From Life -- By Temple

End of the Game

Bunny Enters Society

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—The old nursery rhyme about getting a rabbit skin to wrap your baby in has in fact ceased to be fiction. Thousands of grown-up babies are trotting around this fall wrapped in rabbit skins, and thousands of American husbands are hunting money enough to pay the resultant bills. For a rabbit skin coat, traveling under some alias, such as "sealine," near seal or coney, now costs anywhere from $85 to $150.

This rage for rabbit fur has grown up entirely since the beginning of the war, and has apparently not yet reached its height. It is the latest development in a long process by which the majority of the fair ones have come down from wearing seal and ermine and mink and fox, as they did a generation ago, to a condition of being glad to wear a coat of house cat, skunk, muskrat, or rabbit fur without bankrupting their husbands.

Even the humble skunk, and the muskrat, a once becoming scarce commodity, are in demand because of a fashionable demand which makes it necessary for every woman to wear furs, not only in the winter, but even in the summer, when the fad calls for a good deal in preparation as well as money.

Humble Bunny Rises
This rise of the humble bunny to a place of honor about milady's neck and shoulders is the one fortunate thing about this abnormal and unreasonable rage for furs. It has depleted the world's supply of nearly every other fur-bearing animal, because most of these animals are wild ones, and the high prices offered for their pelts has been an incentive to hunt them to extinction. True, some progress has been made in domesticating several species. There is a small industry in fox farming, and a considerable number of muskrats are produced in captivity. One man in Ohio has made a success of raising muskrats on a farm. But the wild fur-bearing animals still are relied upon for most of the supply, and all of them are steadily becoming scarcer.

The fur-bearing rabbit stands on an entirely different footing. He is an essentially domestic animal, and has been for hundreds if not thousands of years. Hence the sudden demand for his pelt has increased the numbers of those raising them. A whole new industry of rabbit farming has grown up in this country in the past four years. It has reached its greatest dimensions in the states where there is a ready market for rabbit meat as well as for the fur. Ohio, Michigan and California are especially good rabbit states. A rabbit show will be held in every county in Michigan this year. A great one was recently held in Cleveland, which is a great rabbit center. Dallas, Texas, is getting ready to hold a rabbit show advertised as the greatest ever held anywhere. One expert on rabbits is scheduled to act as judge at twenty-five important shows this year. Five years ago not half a dozen rabbit shows were held annually in the whole United States. The number of rabbits in the country has multiplied many fold—nobody knows how many.

Rabbit Kings are Latest
We have even rabbit kings and rabbit plutocrats now. For example, shortly before the war a certain man of Belgian birth in New York observed with interest the growth of a demand for skinned rabbits. It was a demand for skinned rabbits. It was not a demand for rabbit skins, but for rabbit skins, and this man saw that the demand would grow because other furs were becoming more and more hard to get. Furthermore this man knew to get all about the preparation of rabbit skins. His father had made a business of tanning and dyeing them in Belgium where they have been used to some extent for a long time. He therefore knew the value of a rabbit skin and how to treat it. He hired a barn in New Jersey, advertised for rabbit skins and took them in. He is now making $250,000. He is advertising for ten million rabbit skins this year.

Rabbit fur is not a high quality fur. When properly clipped and dyed it is effects may be obtained by combining different colors—for example a coat made of rabbit fur dyed black, and trimmed with the fur of the blue rabbit in its natural color. Most rabbit fur is clipped and dyed to resemble seal, and sold as "sealine" or near seal. There is a white variety which is used as an imitation of ermine. One of the reasons the rabbit furs have any great durability. A real seal skin coat will last almost a life time. A good coat of muskrat will last about half as long as seal. A rabbit skin coat cannot be relied upon to last more than one or two seasons. Furthermore rabbit fur "lies down," so that if it is rumpled, or rubbed the wrong way, its beauty is marred. The furs of both seal and muskrat stand straight up, so that you can rub them

Waken all ye profiteers!
Greet the day with ringing cheers;
Heave your profits high and high,
Bank accounts will stand increasing.
You must daily practice fleecing,
Do not heed the practice leers,
Waken all ye profiteers!

Waken all ye profiteers!
Pile the gold for future years;
If your customers are dancing,
Tell them prices are advancing.
Tell them (if you want to sup),
It's the man that's higher up,
Banish legislative fears,
Waken all ye profiteers!

Higher, higher, that's your plan,
Bane on the middleman,
Do not fret if people rave,
You must never let them save.
Boost the prices, "soak 'em good,"
They can't live without your food,
Think of Morgan's buccaners!
Waken all ye profiteers!

A women's club at Lyons held a novel entertainment a few nights ago. Mrs. Eugene Vance acted as autoneer at a social gathering to which the gentlemen had been invited, and one by one they were placed on the block, while the fairer sex declared their own merits. It was noticeable that wives of those on the block were the lowest bidders.

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information, may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette, Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. How can I secure a good farm in a good farming community, that has no doctor, secure a good man? J. B. C.

A. This notice will undoubtedly attract the attention of some doctor who is looking for such a location.

Q. In how many cemeteries in France are our fallen heroes buried? M. R. C.

A. American soldiers are buried in approximately 700 cemeteries in France. At one time our soldiers' graves were located in 2,340 different French cemeteries.

Q. How can space for a figure in Statuary hall in the capitol at Washington be obtained? J. H. C.

A. The privilege is given only to the states. Each state is allowed to place statues of two of its favorite sons in this hall.

Q. What do you know about the safety of French municipal bonds as investments? D. K. J.

A. The French guarantee of their safety is the fact that in all history no French municipality has ever defaulted in the payment of its obligations.

Q. What divisions of the army were being trained in this country at the time of the signing of the armistice? B. A.

A. The war department says that the ninth to twentieth divisions, inclusive, were in training in the various army camps of the United States on November 11.

Q. Why is Halloween, and when did it originate? K. L.

A. Halloween is celebrated on the evening of October 31, as the vigil of All Saints' Day. Its origin dates back to the early history of the Christian church.

Q. How were funds provided to build the Statue of Liberty? G. F.

A. The Statue of Liberty in New York harbor was given to the United States by the people of France, who raised the money by popular subscription.

Q. Does the supreme court of the United States have a jury? If not, how are decisions reached? E. B.

A. The supreme court does not have a jury. It requires a majority of the nine members of the court to render a decision. No jury is needed because the supreme court exercises appellate jurisdiction except in some special cases.

Q. When you give me the exact wording of the telegram sent out by the government during the "flu" epidemic a year ago to shell manufacturing plants? M. D.

A. The following wire is being sent to all plants working on ordnance contracts: Infatigable is interfering with our munition plants through the country. It is up to the men and women who are still on the job to make good the loss of their countrymen. Speed up. Your country needs every bit of your energy today for the men in France.

Q. To what extent do women outnumber men in France? F. V.

A. The latest figures available show that there are about 19,093,721 males and 19,744,932 females in France.

DRUNKENNESS ON WANE.

London.—Intoxication in Great Britain has decreased 85 percent since 1913, according to official figures made public by the government in the annual Blue Book. The number of convictions, throughout the kingdom in the past year is the lowest on record. The remarkable decrease is attributed to the various restrictions placed upon the sale of intoxicants, and to the fact that dishonestive and replacing the "straights" that were in such great demand before the war.

MURDERER BECOMES CRITIC.

Ossining, N. Y.—Gordon Pawcett Hamby, awaiting execution at Sing Sing prison for the murder of two bank officials and the robbery of the East Brooklyn Savings Bank, has become the music critic for the inmates of the death house. In a note to the warden he comments on a recent band concert outside the cells as follows:
"The band does popular airs particularly well, but I notice a slight rasping in one of the slide trombones. That discord can be easily remedied."

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two girls in high school, trying to do our best in our studies and want to have our hearts set on the same. We seem to be unfriendly toward each other. We haven't done anything to make her dislike us that we know of. We please give us your advice that will win her friendship.

(2) There are two young men in school that want to go with us. We met with them once, but during the evening they wanted to kiss us. We told them "No" and made them take us straight home. That was quite a while ago. The boys still want to go with us, but we have always told them "No." They are of good character and good families in town. Should we go with them?

(3) Nothing will be gained by trying to make your teacher like you. Strive to do the right thing and go your honest way. If you are doing your best you know how you should not care whether certain people appreciate it or not. Depend upon your own work. If you are juniors or seniors at high school you are old enough to go with boys occasionally. Do not let them kiss you, and if they persist, drop them entirely and wait until boys of higher principle like you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 21 years of age. My husband is 10 years my senior. While he is very good to me he does not want to take me places of amusement, which I like to do.

Before we were married he took me places and led me to think he would do the same. What shall I do? Shall I go alone?

BOUNCING BEL.
Your husband is probably tired after his day's work and needs his home and rest. This, of course, is not fair to you. Perhaps you can make a compromise: If you take one night a week as your night and give

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

Today something happened which decided me to do as I wish in the matter of Eric Sands. I shall send him the packet of little luxuries and a friendly letter telling him of my marriage. I felt all at once that I should be doing right to try and comfort him. He was a soldier in a foreign hospital. But when I ran into Jim this afternoon buying a purse with gold initials on it which were the same as the mother's nor his sister's, the balance of doubt dropped in my favor.

"Hello, dear," I said, as I watched him count out money for his purchase. "You've chosen excellent taste—what's the purse for?" (I had an idea it was for me until I saw the strange initials.)

My husband looked decidedly uncomfortable at my sudden appearance.

"Oh, it's you, Ann! Why, it's for an old friend of mine, a Mrs. Frisbie; don't believe you know her. She doesn't live in Centerville. I saw you finished your shopping?" Shall we go into Park's for a hot chocolate?"

"Yes, indeed, I'm finished—have you bought everything you want?" I asked him. "I mean anything at all by this except an honest wish not to drag him away if he had anything else to do. But he chose to misunderstand."

"I wouldn't be sarcastic, Ann," he said. "Don't think I am buying gifts for a list of Feminine Unknowns. I'm not."

"Why, my dear, I hadn't thought of such a thing. You've as much right to have friends now as ever. And—so have I, Jimmie. One of the awful mistakes of marriage is to think it puts you instantly under lock and key so far as social intercourse goes. I want you to keep Watermelon Cakes—Use your own favorite cake mixture but use only the white of eggs for the white part. For the red use red sugar or color with red.

Have half pound seeded raisins. Roll the raisins in powdered sugar, stir them in the red part and pour in your pan; then pour the white part over and around it.

Apple Filling for Cakes.—This is a change from jelly filling. Beat one egg very light in a bowl, and one cup sugar, add to this the juice of one lemon and the rind grated.

Peel and grate three rather tart apples right in this mixture, stirring each well before adding the other. When all the apples are in a kettle and star over a fire until the apple custard is boiling hot and quite thick.

Apple Cakes.—One cup of sugar, one heaping tablespoon lard, one and one-half tablespoons cocoa, yolk of one egg, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda in milk, one-half teaspoon cream tartar in two small cups flour.

Ice-cream. Grate one apple and beat with egg. Put together and thicken with confectioners' sugar.

Pork Cake.—One pound salt pork chopped fine, one pound raisins, dried, pointed currants washed and dried; one-fourth pound citron, chopped fine, three cups granulated sugar, six cups flour, one grated nutmeg, one teaspoon ground cloves, one teaspoon ground allspice, two teaspoons cinnamon, walnuts (to taste), chopped; two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon baking soda dissolved in a little warm water, one pint boiling water.

In preparing, arrange ingredients in mixing bowl in separate rows, beginning with salt pork, over which pour the hot water and then gradually stir in other articles until all have been thoroughly mixed.

Bake in slow oven about one and one-half hours.

This recipe will make two large loaf cakes, and as neither milk, eggs nor butter are used, it is an inexpensive cake which improves with age.

Apple Sauce Cake (without eggs).—One cup unsweetened apple sauce, one-half cup butter, one cup sugar, pinch of salt, one cup chopped raisins, one teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon allspice; last, stir in flour until stiff.

HOUSEWIFE'S CORNER

BY GRANDMOTHER WELLS

As the main dish for dinner two or even three times a week, there is nothing cheaper and at the same time tastier than fish. Fish steak, particularly, costs less than meat steak, and has less waste to it. Halibut sells for about 35 cents a pound, and is a real economy. Vary your ways of cooking it. There are at least a half a dozen ways—and the family will be glad to see it each time.

Try this way of baking it. Put the steak, after wiping it carefully on both sides with a dampened piece of paper, in a baking pan in which a tablespoonful of butter has melted. Sprinkle lightly with flour, then lay slices of fresh tomatoes evenly along the fish, and put a half a cupful of shredded green pepper over that. Season with salt and pepper. Cover the pan and put in the oven to bake for half an hour, basting several times during that time.

Or it may be broiled, with a little more trouble, but is worth it. Cut the steak from around the edges of the halibut and divide the steak into pieces suitable for individual servings. Dip each piece into beaten egg then into bread crumbs, and egg may be omitted and simply bread crumbs used. In that case roll the fish around well into the crumbs, to make them adhere to it. Lay the breaded fish in a fireproof dish which is small enough to go even. Brown them lightly in butter or other cooking fat, cover the pan and put it in the oven with a slow fire. In twenty minutes the fish will be tender and the skin will be crisp. Turn the pieces—with a bread knife to protect them from breaking—and replace the lid. In ten minutes more the fish will be done.

Forced halibut is a great delicacy. It requires one or two carrots and an onion, in its preparation, thus cheap and good just now. It is better to do the peaching on top of the stove, rather than in the oven, so that the fish can be watched carefully. In a frying pan melt a tablespoonful of butter, and cook a sliced onion in it slowly until the onion is beginning to brown. Then stir in a tablespoonful of flour and add half a cup of milk and half a cup of water and stir the mixture constantly until it comes to a boil. Set it off and add the carrots, cut in shreds. Put the fish into the sauce, put the pan back over the fire and cook with the lowest possible flame for twenty minutes, basting often and lifting the fish up occasionally to let the sauce run under it. When the fish is done, lift it to a heavy platter, back with a spoon, and the whole thing under the broiler close to the fire until it is a light brown.

Regulating Control in Locomotor Ataxia (3)
In a recent talk on this subject, I have five additional exercises for the development of better co-ordination in muscles whose control has been lost as a result of locomotor ataxia and other lesions of the nervous system. The exercises thus far described have been for the upper extremities. Here are some more of the exercises suggested by the late Dr. S. Weir Mitchell and later employed by me. These exercises are usually attached to the lower extremities and the body. It is essential that the exercises should be carried out with the utmost accuracy and nicety of movement, and in regular periods three times a day without interruption, and the exercises should last from ten to thirty minutes, always stopping short of fatigue which is exceedingly harmful to ataxic individuals.

(1) Stand with feet close together, arms at sides, and the body erect, position without help from arms or arms. Sit down slowly. Repeat once.

(2) Stand with cane, feet close together. Advance the left foot slowly and return it. Same with right. Repeat three times.

(3) Walk ten steps with cane slowly. Walk backward ten steps with cane slowly.

(4) Stand without cane, feet spread out, hands on hips. Flex the knees and stoop slowly as far as possible, then rise slowly. Repeat twice.

(5) Stand erect with cane. Carry left foot slowly back behind right, then return it slowly. Repeat with right foot. Do this three times.

(6) Stand without cane, feet parallel and six inches apart, hands on hips and count twenty. Increase the duration each day by five until you can stand while counting one hundred.

(7) Stand as before. Raise the arms up from the sides until they meet above the head. Repeat this three times, always slowly.

(8) With the arms raised above the head as before, bend slowly forward as far as possible, trying to touch the floor with your fingers, then straighten up again slowly. No matter whether you bend the knees.

The Daily Novelette

The Triumph of Tombley Tuff
Just before daybreak the man in the little arose quickly and with stealthy advance around the bedroom picked up the gleaming weapon and stole out noiselessly to the bathroom.

"It do it here," he muttered, incoherently. "It won't make such a splatter in here. I'll do it over the tub." He snatched, feverishly, as he placed the shining steel to his temple.

For an hour, Tombley Tuff stood there, first pointing the glinting thing to his temple as he decided he would do it, and then dropping it at his side when he decided he wouldn't.

Then a terrible suspicion crossed his mind. That was the question. Was it the jeers of his friends and their taunts and sneers that he would have to face if he didn't do it?

Not even the disdainful glances of the lovely Limabene Cruller that he would have to see. Could he stand them?

Ten billion times, no! So, with a muttered imprecation, he grasped the shining steel and with a determined twitch to his right cheek dimpled, pressed it firmly to his temple, and for the first time he shaved himself. (See footnote.)

Sure Way To Get RID OF DANDRUFF

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get four or five drops of pure, dry, ethereal liquid, apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it gently with the finger tips.

In the morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging and scratching will stop instantly, and your hair will be shiny, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid aroon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

WANTS WOMEN JURISTS.

New York.—Judge Otto Rosalsky, of the local court of general sessions, believes and hopes that the legislature will soon pass a law permitting women to sit on juries here.

"The time has come," he announced in court recently, "when New York courts should avail themselves of the intelligence and keen judgment of women and utilize them as jurors. I propose to petition the legislature to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure so that women will be eligible as jurors."

BUREAU FOR LOVERS.
Hull.—The lord mayor of Hull has been asked to vouch for the bona fides of many local soldiers who have wooed French or Belgian girls. Inquiries have come from France and Belgium and the lord mayor has supplied the information. Some of the girls belong to well-to-do families. In one instance the prospective bride made a special journey to England before consenting to go to the altar.

Women to Drill.
Neenah.—Military drill and hawking have been adopted by the Young Women's club members here, and special activity in these lines is being shown.

THE COW PUNCHER

BY ROBERT J. C. STEAD

Author of "Kitchener and Other Poems"

Copyright by Harper & Brothers

"No worse than you have said, I'll be bound," put in the doctor. "Yes, take her part. What care you for the family name?"

"I have a right to speak for the family name," said the doctor firmly. "It was mine before it was yours, and cannot see that the family name has been compromised in the slightest degree. This is Irene's first adventure. It will pass away. And even if it does not—she is a manly boy."

Mrs. Hardy surveyed her husband hopelessly, then turned to Irene. "Have you made any promises?"

"Only that I wouldn't make any promises until he had a chance. That seemed fair."

"I suppose you are receiving letters from him?"

"Why doesn't he write?"

For the first time Irene's eyes fell on the doctor. He had confessed now, not for himself but for him.

"He can't write," she said.

"Merciful heavens!" exclaimed Mrs. Hardy, "what a chair."

"Andrew bring me a stimulant."

The outcome was that Mrs. Hardy insisted upon a finishing course. Afterward they traveled together for a year in Europe. Then home again, Irene surrounded her with the social attractions which Doctor Hardy's comfortable income and professional standing made possible. Her purpose was obvious and but thinly disguised. She hoped that her daughter would outlive her youthful infatuation and would at length, in a more suitable match give her heart to one of the numerous eligible of her circle.

To promote this end Mrs. Hardy spared no pains. Young Carlton, son of a banker and one of the leading men of his set, seemed particularly appropriate match. Mrs. Hardy opened her home to him, and Carlton whatever his motives, was not slow to grasp the situation. For five years, Irene had not spoken of Dave Eiden, and the mother had grown to hope that the old attachment had died down and would present itself as a forgotten in a new and more becoming passion. The fact is that Irene at that time would have been quite incapable of stultifying her relation to Carlton Eiden and the fact that she means sure that she loved that sun-burnt boy of romantic memory; she could never marry him, let his development in life be what it would; but she felt that her heart was locked, at least for the present to all other suitors. She had given her promise, and she settled the matter.

Notwithstanding her indifference the girl found herself encouraging Carlton's advances, or at least not meeting them with the rebuffs which had been her habit toward all other suitors, and Mrs. Hardy's hopes grew

HISTORY OF NUMBER 40

40 years ago an old doctor was putting up a building on the corner of the block, that cured the worst cases of blood troubles, and time proved that the cures were permanent. After many years I secured the prescription (being a druggist), and took each ingredient separately and referred to my old books. I discovered that other authoritative books on medicine and found the medical properties set down as follows: Employed in diseases of the glandular system, in blood troubles, eczema, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, chronic rheumatism, catarrh, ulcers, hemorrhoids, skin eruptions, mercurial and lead poisoning. Under its use bodily eruptions and scrofulous swellings that have withstood all other treatment disappear as if by magic. To commend me to you, I have written a booklet. I named this booklet "Number 40 for the blood". J. C. Mendenhall Evansville, Ind. Sold by Peoples' Drug Co.

THE WISHING PLANE

WILLIS WINTER

As soon as the two men had carried Jack and Jane away the man who had attacked Captain Bravo and Ladydear looked around and failed to see the children they realized what had happened.

The old man and old lady were part of the band of thieves, you see. They weren't in trouble at all. They had been with the members of the band who watched the children and their friends leave the hotel that day and start for the bay. When they were out of breath from hunting, Captain Bravo and Ladydear decided that the only thing they could do was to notify the Naples police and hope that some trace of the children could be found that way.

"I thought your price was only 50¢," said Captain Bravo sadly. "These fellows have such a big organization that they can hide the children in a different place every day, if they want to. None of them will tell the police anything, either, so it seems hopeless."

"We must get word to Signor Angelo immediately," said Ladydear. He may be able to help us because he helped the police hunt down so many criminals.

Of course, neither Ladydear nor Captain Bravo knew then that the kidnapping of the children had been a blow at Signor Angelo or that members of the band had arranged to place the blame on Signor Angelo.

When they arrived at the clerk's station and told the police all about the kidnapping, Captain Bravo had picked up the children's trunk during the stay in Switzerland, in his pocket, and gave these to the police to help them. Then he and Ladydear went to the hotel to build up a story to Signor Angelo and to try to think of some way of doing something themselves to find the children.

When they arrived at the clerk's desk in the hotel they found a letter waiting for Captain Bravo. At one corner of the envelope was written "From Signor Angelo." They opened the envelope and he read the letter together. It said:

"Have taken Jack and Jane for my own children. If you try to get them back my men will kill you. You will be watched until you leave Italy."

Copyright, 1913.

Jack and Jane had reached the narrow street the old couple had run down another street, to get ahead of the others of the band had slipped down another street, too, and had gone into the building by the back way. They had used the back way for that kind of work before the owners belonged to the band.

Captain Bravo and Ladydear did what everyone would do. They rushed up and down the street, peering into buildings and down other streets in the hope of seeing Jack and Jane. But of course there was not a sign of them. At last

BEGY'S MUSTARINE IN THE YELLOW BOX

Just as soon as our regular advertisement starts people will demand BEGY'S MUSTARINE. If they cannot get it from you, Mr. Live Druggist, they will get it from some of your competitors. We have opened new territory before you and we know just what we are talking about.

BEGY'S MUSTARINE is so much better than Liniment, Ointments or any other preparation used for the same purpose, that nothing can stop the people from getting the best. We have a reputation throughout the country of square-dealing with the people. Mr. Druggist, on the basis and the wonderful merits of MUSTARINE we ask your generous cooperation.

We don't want you to order a big supply, but we do urge you to have enough on hand to meet the demand that comes quickly and surely.

"Heed our warning. There is more concentrated non-blistering heat in a box of BEGY'S MUSTARINE than in a box of any other mustard plaster. It is the best and quickest remedy in the world for lameness, swellings, sprains, rheumatism, neuralgia, cramps in the leg, sprains and strains. People who use MUSTARINE state it stops aches and pains in half the time it takes similar remedies; that's why people use it in preference to the old-fashioned mustard plaster."

It's the same way with Gout, and for Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica—the relief is simply marvelous.

Your Jobber has BEGY'S MUSTARINE in the Yellow Box. Order a supply today, for just as soon as the people discover that BEGY'S Mustarine is made of real, honest mustard and other pain-destroying ingredients, they will order it by the box. It is the best and quickest remedy in the world for lameness, swellings, sprains, rheumatism, neuralgia, cramps in the leg, sprains and strains. Oct. 14—Home Buyers, Speculators and Gamblers:

I thank you kindly to read this article carefully and then think.
The word Speculator sounds very nice, the word Gambler very hit the point, because I honestly believe they outnumber the balance of the population.
Many of them gamble in oil, coal and lead mines, something in which there is a great chance and they have to dig deep to it—to get it. Therefore let me call your attention to the fact that there is a large number of small speculations here in Janesville, that are right on the top of the ground, that you can see with your own eyes and where you can make from twenty to fifty percent on your investment inside of two months. I would like to make anyone, interested in this article, my client because it means money for both of us. I am in the business to make money for myself and for my clients and will gladly call on you by request after office hours or make special appointment at my ed ads.

Thank you for reading.

CHICAGO WILL MAKE STRONG BID FOR BIG TEN CHAMPIONSHIP

Chicago, Oct. 14.—High hopes have been raised at the midway because of the enormous score of 123 points rolled up by the Maroons on the Great Lakes eleven on Saturday. The Maroons are not the squad of 1915, when it had Driscoll and those other marvels of the pigskin. It furnished by weak opposition to the end runs of the Chicago team.

Still an aggregation that can sprint down the field and pile up 123 points against any kind of a defense must be considered one of potential scoring strength.

Not since the old days have there been halfbacks capable of getting away and picking holes like these men. Director Stager has on his out. Minnesota once shoved across more than 100 points on a rival back in the years between 1900 and 1903. About that time Michigan had a half of a high scoring team. But they have been ruro in these later times.

Those seeking allwestern material for this fall had better keep their lamps on fullback Annan. A narrow escape from the high school football in these parts and has many followers.

Annan gives promise of being one of the best halfbacks Stager has ever had. He is a star of tried experience, and he showed his ability on Saturday in no small way.

GRACE DIRECT WINS IN STRAIGHT HEATS

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 14.—Grace Direct, driven by Beck, won the 2:00 race for a purse of $2,500, the feature of the opening of the grand circuit races at the Lakewood track yesterday.

The race went to Direct C. in the straight heats, the best time being 2:02 1/2.

The popular event of the day was the battle between Pop Geers and Murphy for first honors in the 2:12 pacing event which Homefast, driven by Geers, won in straight heats and a third. Wood Patch, piloted by Murphy, took second in each heat.

The 2:00 trot went to Lon Todd, driven by V. Fleming, in straight heats. The 2:20 southern horse race, a feature of the races in this section, drew six entries. The race was won by Edna, a Tennessee mare, owned and driven by W. M. Tolley, Columbia, Tenn. The Tennessee mare took her best time being 2:12 1/2.

BOWLING DUE FOR ITS GREATEST YEAR

"This will be the biggest bowling year Janesville has ever had," E. C. Baumann, secretary of the organized bowling association, said today. "More interest is being shown than ever before and with the arrival in the city of a number of crick bowlers during the past few months a successful season is bound to result."

Enthusiasm was shown over prospects for the formation of two or three leagues at the meeting held at the West Side alleys last night. The commercial league will contain nearly 20 teams and is hoped.

Organization of the city league will be completed at another meeting to be held at the Friday night at North Main street. All bowlers are urged to attend.

The Y. M. C. A. plans to organize and run the church bowling league again this season. A meeting will be called shortly for the purpose of naming teams and drawing up a schedule. The Y. alleys will open for use Saturday, J. J. Koller, industrial secretary, stated today.

BAUMANN'S COLTS GRAB 7-PIN VICTORY

Baumann's Colts defeated George Kuock's Stars by a margin of 7 pins in one of the most closely contested matches of the season at the West Side alleys last night. The Colts showed form in the opener, shooting 918, but lost the second game by 40 pins, only to come back in the third and grab it by a 12-pin margin. Made it the highest score that has been rolled in a match in this season—233. The scores:

Baumann's Colts	172	178	155
Doncker	151	183	168
Grove	111	157	191
Goodman	179	126	197
Kirchoff	169	180	201
Totals	918	881	878

POLO GROUNDS WILL SEAT 45,000 IN 1920

New York, Oct. 14.—Plans are under consideration to enlarge the polo grounds for next season so that the Brush stadium will have a seating capacity of 45,000 spectators.

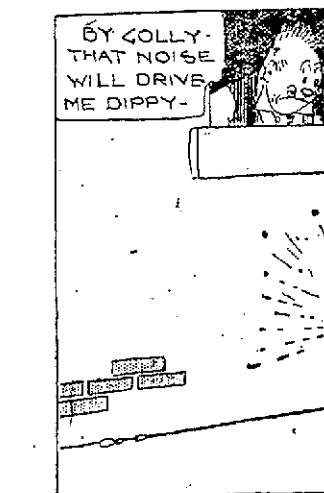

At various times during the last few seasons the crowds have been so large at several of the games that it has been necessary to stop the sale of tickets. The new stadium, the final Cincinnati series the past season, when 10,000 spectators were left outside at one of the games.

At the world's series in 1917 thousands of fans were disappointed, and it has practically been decided by the National Exhibition company to provide the seating capacity before next season starts.

WISCONSIN'S WEAK LINE IS SOURCE OF WORRY TO RICHARDS

Madison, Oct. 14.—Rising from their scanty victory of Saturday over Marquette, the Badger eleven started the week's grind on Monday in preparation for the coming game with Northwestern.

Coach Richards made no statement about the significance of Marquette's strong showing against his all-veteran team, but gave a talk to the grid warriors in the dressing room before practice. All but Scott, the big tackle who was injured, came through the game without a serious mishap. It is doubtful whether Scott, still suffering from the effects of wounds and sprains received in France, will be able to do much playing during the remainder of the season.

The tendency among the Wisconsin university athletes, coaches and students is not so much to belittle their own team because of the showing against Marquette, but to give the Milwaukee pigskin chasers due credit for having an aggregation worthy of the conference.

Hope that the Badgers will have final weight in the conference championship is still high. It is believed that Northwestern will prove an easier foe when met on their own field next Saturday than was Marquette.

The weak Wisconsin line is a weighty problem for Coach Richards to solve. While backfield and end material is abundant, difficulty is still experienced in finding many ready combinations in the first defense that work well together. The possible loss of Scott makes the line a more serious problem.

Because of this unbalanced character of the lineup, Wisconsin's playing will probably continue to be one of forward passes on offense and a kicking defensive game.

The ease with which Davey, the flashy quarter, was able to get off long passes almost perfectly on Saturday revealed this strength. This style of playing has been accentuated strongly in all the practicing so far during the season.

Emile Gallot Donaldson in his mascot uniform.

Emile Gallot Donaldson, a little French orphan, is the mascot of the University of Pennsylvania's grid team. The boy's father was killed in battle. The rest of his family was wiped out by a German shell which hit their home. He was adopted by the sister of Wharton Donaldson, guard on the Penn team.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

BY JACK KEENE.

The report that Gus Welch, former star of the Carlisle Indian team, had been appointed head coach of Washington state college, replacing Lone Star Dietz, the other Indian, is of interest. Welch stood out as a player at Carlisle, and in fact, Glenn Warner said that the Indians never had a better man at quarterback. He is a close student of football, and was noted for his speed and generalship with which he directed his teams.

Welch has recently returned from overseas, where he served as a captain in the A. E. F. Welch was a law student at Dickinson college when the call to arms rang through the country, and he at once volunteered his profession to plunge into the great, grim game. Entering the first training camp at Fort Niagara, Welch won the silver bar of a first lieutenant, and was stationed at Camp Meade for a while. He was soon promoted to the grade of captain, and he served with distinction. He served with honor and distinction. Welch was the typical Indian in action. He was fearless and rough in his play, directing the play of the team. Dartmouth men still talk of the ferocity of the Indian attack in the game on the Polo grounds in 1912, in which the Redskins swept Dartmouth down to defeat. Welch was the general in that engagement, and he had with him such leaders as Guy Bracklin, Joe Guyon and Steam Roller Powell to smash the Green defenses. Wallette, Busch and Calac also were on that Indian team.

Washington state college will undoubtedly do well under Welch. He is one of Glenn Warner's prodigious former teachers. Welch handled the Indian team for a short while in 1915, when he jumped in and tried to restore order and harmony out of the chaos and discord of the ill-starred Chectaw Kelly regime. Although his team failed to do much in that year, it was playing better football the end of the season than when Welch assumed his stormy post.

Washington has long been the home of winning football teams. Washington university did not lose a game in nine years while Gilmore Dable was coach of the eleven. Under Lone Star Dietz the State college did well, and in 1915 defeated Brown at Pasadena when the Providence eleven went west in search of victory.

The four round bouts staged at San Francisco have lured numerous well known eastern boxers to the Pacific coast, and evidently the end is not yet in sight. Willie Jackson, the New York lightweight, and Harry Wills, the colored heavyweight, will soon start westward. Recently a western promoter visited Gotham and induced Jackson to sign up for five four round bouts to be held in Frisco, and the lightweight will depart for that city early next month. Wells, who many regard as the colored heavyweight champion, has been signed for four four round contests, and as there are many men of his division on the coast it is probable that he will be seen in numerous bouts. Among the big fellows who are present engaging in four rounders are Jim Flynn and Tow-

Their stomachs are about the same size

It would take a stomach larger than the cow herself if the big milk were to give her maximum milk output. It is hard for even the low producer to get enough protein for the small amount of milk she is capable of giving.

Any milk cow should be fed while on pasture.

To balance the irregularities in grass. Otherwise she will overwork her system and waste feed in digesting carbohydrates she can't use for milk.

Purina Cow Chow

"Old 24" as many dairymen call it, supplies the protein that grass lacks. It enables the cow's energy to be utilized in milk making rather than in digesting an overload of carbohydrates. It enables the average cow to produce six pounds of extra milk at one cent per pound.

This extra milk costs only about 6¢ per day. Most Purina feeds 25¢ extra profit per cow per month when fed Purina Cow Chow.

Orfordville News

(By Gazette Correspondent.) Orfordville, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Wm. Keithley had the misfortune, while at the home of her son Ralph, on Saturday evening to fall and break her leg just above the ankle. She was made as comfortable as possible, and expects in a few days to be removed to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smiley are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy who came to their home on Sunday morning. Mother and son are reported as doing well.

The announcement has been made that the local post office will close at six-thirty in the evening, four evenings in the week, to conform to the plan adopted by a majority of the stores. It is quite probable that the majority of the Gazette subscribers in the village will arrange to have their paper delivered by carrier.

Edmund Wright of Iowa, is visiting friends in the village. Mr. Wright was one of the very early settlers in Orfordville, having come here with his father, Isaac Wright, nearly seventy years ago.

The announcement has been made that the local Missionary society of the M. E. church, are attending the Janesville District meeting at Milton, which convenes on Tuesday for a two days session.
